ron of armored cruisers and torpedo-boats approached the Windward islands at the very time when the Oregon was due there. It had been suspected that the Spanish admiral would try to intercept the battleship with his superior force and before leaving Bahia Captain Clark was warned to keep a close look-out for the Spanish fleet.

Aside from this bit of information Secretary Long said there was no further news to be given out. The official navy bulletins are not proving of important news value, although they are practically all that comes from the navy department with its official approval.

Late in the day Secretary Long joined the war board which had been in session for some hours to participate in the discussion of their plans, which are believed to have been materially modified by the news received from the Oregon. The cruiser Charleston, which started yesterday on her long journey to meet Admiral Dewey at Manila, should arrive there in about 24 days, allowing a couple of days at Honolulu for coal. Admiral Dewey's cablegrams show that he is able to maintain the ground he has gained until reinforcements arrive in the usual course, so that the Charleston will get there in time to serve his purposes. The stock of ammunition which the Charleston carries is believed to be the great essential just now, the fierce engagement at Cavite having consumed a large part of the American admiral's shot and shell.

There was a good deal of talk at the war department yesterday of the possibility of the issue by the president of another call for volunteers, but careful inquiry warrants the statement that this is at least premature and that no further call is likely to issue until the aggregate number of soldiers already called for have responded and have been duly equipped for service. This last matter, the equipment of the new troops, is the main source of delay and promises to become even worse in the future.

Senator Lodge Expresses His Surprise and Disappointment at a Secret Session of the Senate—Volunteer Army at Chickamauga Now Aggregates Eighteen Thousand Men—General Otis Takes Charge of Manila Expedition—Preparation at San Francisco.

Washington, May 19.—Secretary Long gave out the welcome information late yesterday that the battleship Oregon, the second largest craft in the American navy, had successfully completed her long trip from San Francisco, making the entire circuit of South America, and was now safe. Whether or not she has joined Admiral Sampson's fleet the secretary would not say. The rigid secrecy of the navy department was relaxed only enough to make known the best news the navy department had received since the battle of Manila, as it meant not only that the Oregon was out of harm's way from a concerted attack on this ship by the whole Spanish squadron now in southern waters, but also that her great fighting strength would be added to Admiral Sampson's force in the near future, if, indeed, it had not already augmented the admiral's strength.

The Oregon left San Francisco about six weeks ago, before the war had opened, and at that time it was not admitted that she was to join the ships in Atlantic waters. She stopped at Callao for dispatches and then went around the Horn and then up the east coast of South America. In all the trip covered more than 13,000 miles. The last stretch, from Bahia to the Windward Islands, has been followed with anxiety by naval officials, for, by strange coincidence the formidable Spanish squadron of armored cruisers and torpedo-boats approached the Windward islands at the very time when the Oregon was due there.

There are three periods in all life—the time of the bud, of the flower and of the perfect fruit. It is thus that girlhood emerges into womanhood and womanhood into motherhood. Almost all of the ills from which women suffer have their inception in weakness and disease of the feminine organism, which bears the burdens of widowhood and motherhood. These disorders usually begin with puberty, childhood or with the "turn of life." Thousands of women suffer silently for years in this way, rather than undergo the examinations and local treatment insisted upon by the majority of physicians. This is unnecessary. An eminent and skillful specialist, Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y., long since discovered a wonderful medicine that will cure all troubles of this nature in the privacy of the home. This medicine is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs that make widowhood and motherhood possible. It makes them strong, healthy and vigorous. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and tones up the nerves. It banishes the indispositions of the period of impending maternity, and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It transforms weak, sickly, nervous invalids into happy, healthy wives and mothers. All good medicine dealers sell it, and no honest dealer will urge a substitute upon you. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures constipation.

GLADSTONE IS DEAD

The Grand Old Man Passes Peacefully Away at Hawarden.

GRIEF IN THE COMMONS

When It Was Announced That He Was Dying.

House Will Petition Her Majesty For a Funeral at the Public Charge and For the Erection of a Monument in Westminster Abbey—Prince of Wales' Telegram.

Hawarden, May 19.—The Right Hon. William Ewart Gladstone died this morning at 5 o'clock. The end was peaceful.

GLADSTONE IS DYING.

The Announcement Caused a Hush of Grief in the Commons.

London, May 19.—Every other topic in Great Britain yesterday dropped out of sight before the passing of Mr. Gladstone. Hawarden focused the attention, which from the highest to the man in the street was respectful, sincere and profoundly moved. In two places, perhaps, was the tension most keen and most heartfelt—the house of commons and Hawarden.

Just before the house rose yesterday a telegram from Herbert Gladstone reached Lord Stanley, announcing that his father was sinking. Already before his death the hush of grief seemed to fall over the scene of his triumphs; and from the present, men turned to the past, recalling sayings and doings.

A great lion lay dying, his old colleagues, his one-time enemies and followers watching his last long fight with his last and implacable foe as they watched in past days his fights against foes whom he could overcome. True to himself, he was yielding slowly, inch by inch. It was generally felt at St. Stephens that his dying was but the sequel to that great scene witnessed four years ago when, his last speech spoken, he quitted the house without one word of spoken adieu. Anticipating the inevitable, the members of the government discussed the appropriate procedure to be observed and resolved that no effort on their part should be wanting to mark a suitable sense of their loss.

Disregarding recent precedence it was decided that the programme in parliament should be the same as that adopted in the cases of the Earl of Chatham and of the younger Pitt, namely an address to Her Majesty praying for a funeral at the public charge and a monument erected in Westminster Abbey.

Through the whole kingdom every public gathering added its words of deep grief to the volume of national mourning clearly versed in the telegram from the prince of Wales to Mr. Henry Gladstone:

"My thoughts are with you, your mother and your family at this trying time you are experiencing. God grant that your father does not suffer."

Papers In Mourning.

London, May 19.—All the papers are out with special editions, in heavily leaded borders, announcing the death of Mr. Gladstone. The Daily Chronicle heads its editorial with a quotation from Wordsworth:

"This is the happy warrior; this is he That every man in arms should wish to be."

GLADSTONE'S GREAT CAREER.

Townsend's Sketch of "The Grand Old Man."

HOW THE GREAT STATESMAN CLIMBED TO THE SUMMIT OF FAME.

A Land, a Church and a Parliamentary Reform—Inconsistencies In His Character—Work of His Later Years. An Interesting Review.

Few men are more fortunate in their names than was Gladstone. Whatever its extraction, the name conveys the idea of heartiness as well as strength.

Like the ruling intellects throughout the British islands at the present day, and we may say for a full century past, he was Scotch, though he was born in Liverpool near the commencement of Madison's administration, the last day but one in December, 1809. He was born in Rodney street, which took its name from the Lord Rodney whose fleet fought the French during the American Revolution.

Liverpool had but little importance prior to her independence. Most of the vessels which sailed for America in colonial times came from Bristol, London or Hull. The slave trade, subsequently the cotton trade and finally the general American trade built up Liverpool.

WILLIAM E. GLADSTONE.

There John Gladstone, born just before the stamp act, and the son of a grain merchant at Leith, near Edinburgh, established himself and made voyages to America, and like the junior Scotch merchants of that day, studied the American trade and acted upon his personal observation as to what he should ship to England. The West Indies and Russia were soon added to the nations with which he dealt.

About 1812 there was a notable politician in Liverpool of the name of George Canning, a Tory, who filled an active ministerial part in the second war against the United States. The merchant Gladstone changed his politics from admiration of Canning about the time his son William Ewart Gladstone was 3 years old. Though hostile to Madison, Canning befriended the South American republics and Greece and antagonized the Duke of Wellington's prejudice against Russia as the future rival of England in eastern affairs. So Mr. Gladstone inherited from his father and Canning a sentimentality concerning oppressed peoples.

He was enough of a Liverpool man, however, to share during the first part of our civil war the manifest prejudice of Liverpool against the American shipping trade and hastened to say that "Jefferson Davis had made a nation."

Their political affiliations caused John Gladstone to be made a baronet by Sir Robert Peel in his eighty-second year. He was something of an author of books and pamphlets on trade subjects. The word Gladstone is believed to mean hawk hawk.

Having been somewhat trained by a clergyman, who reported him dull at figures, the future prime minister was sent to Eton school in 1821 and again took a private tutor and then went to Oxford university. About 500 boys were at Eton with Gladstone, and not much attention was paid to their studies beyond Greek and Latin. Gladstone wrote Latin verses with facility and contributed to the Eton magazine, and he established a serial while in the school, assisted by Hallam, who became the subject of Tennyson's "In Memoriam." Among his early pieces often quoted is this:

Still I laid the cotton and the flax Warm let the glow of freedom wax; Still I laid the shuttle and the loom Bright let the flame of freedom gleam.

In one of his papers on eloquence he said that the orator could have anything, be a minister, state secretary or premier of the country. Much of Gladstone's writing in this school magazine bears a resemblance to his speeches in old age.

He had the best teachers, one of them a subsequent bishop of Calcutta, but his college life was more noted for his literary and political discussions than for accurate study. He embraced the views of the high church Tories, who were around him in college, and hated political reform. "I did not learn when at Oxford," he says, "to set a due value on the imperishable and inestimable principles of human liberty. The temper in those academic circles was to regard liberty with jealousy."

All around him at college were men destined by their social opportunities to be eminent, such as the Duke of Newcastle, the archbishop of Canterbury, Cardinal Manning, Lyall, the geologist, and Lowe, the statesman. Gladstone opposed the removal of Jewish and Catholic disabilities.

After graduating with honor he went to Italy in 1831 and was there when the reform agitation was at its height in England. By threatening the house of lords with a preposterous enlargement of their number King William IV and Lord Grey passed this notable bill to reconstitute parliament in the summer of 1832. Gladstone was therefore 23 years of age when this momentous enlargement of the privileges of common Englishmen became the law of the realm much against his wish.

The Liberals came into power. By the aid of his college friend, the subsequent Duke of Newcastle, Gladstone easily entered parliament, being elected for Newark, which was swallowed in the duke's estates. The plain constituency taunted young Gladstone with being a parasite of the duke, a young cub of less than 23 years of age, and the son of a man on whose sugar plantations slaves were driven to toil.

At the time Gladstone was opposed to negro emancipation. He denounced what he called "the uninquiring and indiscriminating desire for change." As to slavery he said, "I rest upon the fact that Scripture is the paramount authority on such a point." He proposed the Christian instruction of slaves instead of freedom. To these views the crowds would not listen, but he was elected by a majority of about one-eighth.

His first speech was against West India and Guiana emancipation. He was compelled to speak because the management of slaves on his father's estate was directly attacked as inhuman. Compelled to meet the same charges again, he asked, "Are not Englishmen to retain a right to their own honestly and legally acquired property?"

He could not stay the emancipation bill, which granted compensation to owners and came into effect in 1840. Though he often spoke, most of his early addresses were against liberal legislation in the colonies, in the suffrage and in the church.

Like Disraeli, his subsequent brilliant competitor, he was a precocious Tory and the pet of the old leaders of that party.

Lord Melbourne was almost violently dismissed by King William IV, and Sir Robert Peel, at the time a Tory, was ordered to form a ministry, whereupon he offered young Gladstone the place of junior lord of the treasury. Newark rejected him, and at 26 he became under secretary of the colonies. The house of commons soon upset this ministry, and when Gladstone had made a speech defending the Irish church establishment he and his colleagues were defeated in 1835.

Gladstone concluded to hold his tongue and watch events after he went out of the ministry, and old King William, the last son of George III, died in 1837, letting young Victoria succeed to the throne. Gladstone now stood for two places, Newark and Manchester, and the latter defeated him, but the former returned him.

He again opposed the Melbourne ministry, especially upon hastening emancipation, saying, "We accepted a price in compensation for the loss," and added, "Oh, sir, with what depth of desire have I longed for this day, sore and wearied and irritated with grossly exaggerated misrepresentations and other calumnies, and without the means of reply—how do I rejoice to meet them in free discussion!" The earnestness of this speech seems to have brought the young man into notice.

He had at the time a mild and pleasant countenance, an intellectual expression, dark, prominent eyebrows, clear flashing eyes, a full head of jet black hair and small and regular features. He put his hands behind his back when rising to speak and r'acted them to the front and sometimes put them in his breast. It was noticed that he inherited the clerical abilities of his family when in the cabinet. About 1840 he opposed the principle of state education on an undemonstrative basis.

A general election now brought Sir Robert Peel to the head of affairs, and he made Gladstone master of the mint and vice president of the board of trade. About this time he married Catherine Glyne, daughter of Sir Stephen Glyne of Hawarden castle, in Flintshire. By her he had eight children, who went into politics, the ministry or commerce.

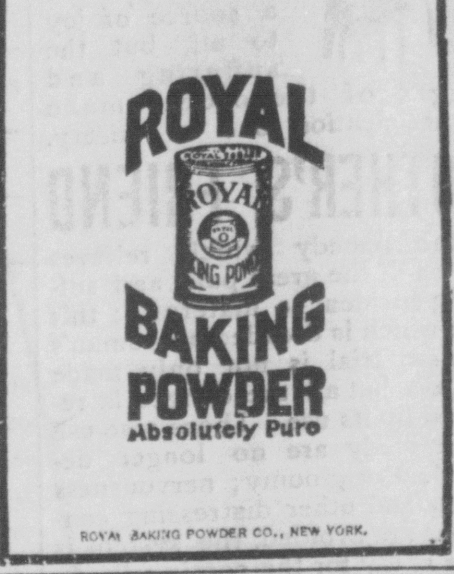

A thread of the schoolmaster runs through this family. One of Gladstone's sisters entered the Roman Catholic church, and another married Lord Littleton.

The active mind of Gladstone now launched a book on the state in its relations with the church. Macaulay wrote it down as betraying very much study and mental toil. "He is the rising hope of those stern and unbending Tories," said Macaulay, "who follow reluctantly and mutinously a leader whose temper and opinion they abhor." Others called attention to the dry light Gladstone shed on his subject and the excess of his passions and prejudices. "He has one gift," said The Edinburgh Review, "most dangerous to a speculator, a vast command of a kind of language grave and majestic, but of vague and uncertain import."

Pausing a moment to contemplate Gladstone abreast of the great Whig victory of Harrison in America in 1840, we see a shifty Scotchman's son reared amid the associations of the African and American slave trades, as desirous as Sir Walter Scott to improve his aristocratic surroundings. The plain brick house in Liverpool, with its door in the middle, a copy of thousands of such houses, is now exchanged for the battlements and towers of Hawarden castle, with its battlemented courtyard and park of ancient trees. His intimate friend is a nobleman, the son of a duke, and the privileged classes look with favor upon their rising champion, who has a fecundity of thought and huxoriousness of language they cannot imitate and must vainly admire.

It is all the more interesting from this fatal outset to note the changes which have come over Gladstone's views and character. The pictures of Cole are suggested to us, of the knight riding forth from his castle in the morning armed from head to foot and coming back at night to the same drawbridge rigid in death. So Gladstone must needs leave the high class surroundings into which he had made his way to tilt his lance at every appearance of modern reform, but in the evening of his days he returns dis-

RELIEF OF DEWEY.

Charleston Leaves San Francisco For the Philippines.

San Francisco, May 19.—The Charleston sailed last evening for Manila with supplies for Admiral Dewey.

Major General Otis has assumed charge of the organization, outfitting and the sailing of the troops bound for Manila. A few alterations in the City of Peking's arrangements which have been decided upon, will delay the departure of the vessel until Saturday next. When ready for sea, the Peking will carry four 4-pound Hotchkiss rapid fire guns, two being placed in her bow and two in her stern. She is being prepared for the reception of 1,400 enlisted men, 72 army officers, eight navy officers and 112 sailors. The latter, with their officers, are to man the Spanish ships captured by Admiral Dewey.

Work on the transports City of Sydney and Australia is proceeding in a very leisurely manner. The former vessel is being coaled and painted and a few carpenters are at work in her interior, but that is all. Unless a force of mechanics is put to work on her at once the vessel will not be ready to leave for a week or more. The Australia is less in need of repairs and alteration than the other vessel.

DEATH OF GLADSTONE.

The death of William Ewart Gladstone removes the greatest statesman of Europe of modern years. His service to his country covers a period that is surprisingly long when it is considered. He was born in the last days of 1809 when Napoleon was seeking to be master of Europe. His public life began when Andrew Jackson was president of the United States. As far away as that seems, Gladstone has been prominently engaged in English public affairs from that time on.

Gladstone was four times prime minister of England. He was first elected in 1868 when the Disraeli ministry was defeated and held office until 1874. Again from 1880 until 1885. After the elections of that year Mr. Gladstone again returned to office for a short time. During the present decade he again became prime minister and passed a home bill through the commons, but it failed in the house of lords.

Gladstone's career has been one of the greatest of the century. As an orator he has been remarkably successful and convincing. As a leader he had few men who were his equals and none who excelled him. He did much writing and study in the classics in the intervals of his official duties and his work always attracted marked attention. He has been one of the great figures of the century just drawing to a close, a century that has witnessed the greatest advancement in civilization and freedom in the history of time.

The value of waterways as a mode of transportation is little understood. The government officials who have been tabulating the statistics of commerce on the Great Lakes discover that 1 cent will haul a ton of goods twelve miles. Ore is brought from Duluth to Buffalo for 55 cents a ton; coal is carried 1,000 miles for 20 cents a ton.

The spectacle of a mighty nation calmly laying aside ordinary business and spending hundreds of millions of dollars and risking thousands of lives to assist a struggling people to achieve the priceless boon of liberty, is an inspiring sight not to be overtopped in the twentieth century. The old nations of the world view the spectacle with amazement and will have a higher opinion of the aims, purposes and destiny of the western power.—Greensburg Review.

Many old soldiers now feel the effects of the hard service they endured during the war. Mr. Geo. S. Anderson, of Rossville, York county, Penn., who saw the hardest kind of service at the front, is now frequently troubled with rheumatism. "I had a severe attack lately," he says, "and procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It did so much good that I would like to know what you would charge me for one dozen bottles." Mr. Anderson wanted it both for his own use and to supply it to his friends and neighbors, as every family should have a bottle of it in their home, not only for rheumatism, but lame back, sprains, swellings, cuts, bruises and burns, for which it is unequalled for sale by C. Twenty-eight general officers and supervisors of the B. & O. S. W. spent some time here this morning on a tour of inspection.

Route agent H. E. Hennis, of the U. S. express, who has been in the city two days on business, returned last night to Vincennes. Seymour does more business in that company than any point between Cincinnati and Washington.

Yesterday afternoon the Pennsylvania road sold 75 tickets to Columbus for the first train, 205 for the second and 97 were sold this morning, making a total of 801 since the encampment began. The Southern Indiana transferred 159 Columbus passengers here and the B. & O. S. W. 57, making a grand total of 1017 passengers taking the Pennsylvania trains here for the encampment.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedial. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

The Burlington's New Omaha, St. Joseph and St. Louis Trains.

To take care of the heavy travel to the Omaha Exposition, in connection with excursion rates, as well as the stopover privileges at Omaha, on all through tickets, the Burlington Route will establish, commencing May 28th, very desirable fast train service to Omaha from St. Louis and St. Joseph.

Trains leave St. Louis daily at 8:45 p. m., leave St. Joseph 8:15 a. m., arrive at Omaha at noon. ### DEATH OF GLADSTONE.

The death of William Ewart Gladstone removes the greatest statesman of Europe of modern years. His service to his country covers a period that is surprisingly long when it is considered. He was born in the last days of 1809 when Napoleon was seeking to be master of Europe. His public life began when Andrew Jackson was president of the United States. As far away as that seems, Gladstone has been prominently engaged in English public affairs from that time on.

Gladstone was four times prime minister of England. He was first elected in 1868 when the Disraeli ministry was defeated and held office until 1874. Again from 1880 until 1885. After the elections of that year Mr. Gladstone again returned to office for a short time. During the present decade he again became prime minister and passed a home bill through the commons, but it failed in the house of lords.

Gladstone's career has been one of the greatest of the century. As an orator he has been remarkably successful and convincing. As a leader he had few men who were his equals and none who excelled him. He did much writing and study in the classics in the intervals of his official duties and his work always attracted marked attention. He has been one of the great figures of the century just drawing to a close, a century that has witnessed the greatest advancement in civilization and freedom in the history of time.

The value of waterways as a mode of transportation is little understood. The government officials who have been tabulating the statistics of commerce on the Great Lakes discover that 1 cent will haul a ton of goods twelve miles. Ore is brought from Duluth to Buffalo for 55 cents a ton; coal is carried 1,000 miles for 20 cents a ton.

The spectacle of a mighty nation calmly laying aside ordinary business and spending hundreds of millions of dollars and risking thousands of lives to assist a struggling people to achieve the priceless boon of liberty, is an inspiring sight not to be overtopped in the twentieth century. The old nations of the world view the spectacle with amazement and will have a higher opinion of the aims, purposes and destiny of the western power.—Greensburg Review.

Allen's Foot-Ease is sold by all druggists and shoe stores, 25c. Sample sent free. Address Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

Many old soldiers now feel the effects of the hard service they endured during the war. Mr. Geo. S. Anderson, of Rossville, York county, Penn., who saw the hardest kind of service at the front, is now frequently troubled with rheumatism. "I had a severe attack lately," he says "and procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It did so much good that I would like to know what you would charge me for one dozen bottles." Mr. Anderson wanted it both for his own use and to supply it to his friends and neighbors, as every family should have a bottle of it in their home, not only for rheumatism, but lame back, sprains, swellings, cuts, bruises and burns, for which it is unequalled for sale by C. W. Milhouse. A bath with COSMO BUTTERMILK SOAP, exquisitely scented, is soothing and beneficial. Sold by C. W. Milhouse. Every woman needs Dr. Miller's Pain Pills. ## COLUMBUS ENCAMPMENT.

Will Close Today After a Very Successful Meeting.

Special Correspondence to the REPUBLICAN.

COLUMBUS, Ind., May 19.—Yesterday was the big day of the Columbus encampment. All the forenoon and evening trains brought great crowds of people.

In the forenoon at 9 o'clock the G. A. R., the S. of V. and their auxiliary organizations met at the city hall where they were formally welcomed by Hon. W. J. Beck, mayor of Columbus. Mayor Beck's address did himself and the city great credit. After extending a hearty welcome in behalf of the citizens of Columbus, he said:

"The traditions of the veteran will always be held in honor. The story of his deeds in the greatest war of modern times will never cease to be a cherished part of our literature. More and more will years reveal the sublimity of these deeds. And allow me to say that coming generations will anxiously trace their decent back to the years 1861 to 1865 and happy will be he who can plant himself upon the proposition that at some point in his family history there stands a man in blue fighting for his country. Farther than that he will not trace nor need he care; for time will have brought such a store of venerableness and effection of the memory of that man in blue that he who can trace to him will stand in the brightest light ancestry can shed. There is only one thing grander than to be a son of a veteran and that is to be the veteran himself.

It was a terrible struggle in which that man in blue took part. Its causes have passed into the oblivion of mean and barbaric things and the prejudice by it inspired has given way to noble recollections. The time is here when the bitterness engendered by those years of strife is remembered no more, but cemented by a brotherhood of patriotism and love for a common flag, the north and the south strike hands in one grand hurrah for the future with forgetfulness of the past. And so it is that when the lives of our gallant seamen are stifled by Spanish treachery the flag shoots aloft, and hosts from the ranks of the old time blue and the old time gray, hand in hand with their sons and their sons' sons, rush to its defense with patriotism in their hearts and upon their lips the soul-stirring cry, "Remember the Maine." And so it is that together they turn toward poor, struggling Cuba and with tearful, up-turned faces they pray the God of nations that speedy release may come to her. And so it is that together they pledge themselves that loving liberty for themselves as they do they will show by their good works that they love it for others none the less.

Ah, and yet us hope, my countrymen, that on that day now soon here, when by beautiful custom we strew the graves of our hero dead with flowers—let us hope that on that day on Cuban soil, with Cuba free, the old time blue find the old time gray may, unmolested by the enemies of liberty, stand over the last resting place of the heroes of that noble battleship and there together twine chaplets; there mingle their tears; there pledge themselves anew to their common flag."

Remarks were made by Commander Dodge of Elkhart, and W. D. Robinson, of Laketon.

During the forenoon and afternoon business services of the G. A. R., W. R. C. S. of V. and auxiliary organizations were held. The W. R. C. elected the following officers: Department president, Mrs. Mary J. Hadley, Danville; senior vice, Mrs. Irene Hawley, Columbus; junior vice, Miss Nettie Winks, Knightstown; treasurer, Mrs. Alice Pike, Danville. The other organizations elect officers today.

The three campfires last night were all well attended.

The military and industrial parades yesterday afternoon were interesting features of the encampment. There was a long line of veterans followed by an industrial parade, in which nearly every industry and business interest in Columbus had representation.

One of the most interesting features

of the day, in fact of the encampment, was the eleven hundred school children on a well arranged platform on South Washington street who sang "Red, White and Blue," "Star Spangled Banner," and kindred songs as the column of veterans passed along. The children were in charge of Prof. Arthur Mason, musical director, and Supt. J. A. Camaguey, of the public schools.

The encampment closes today and the chief interest this forenoon is in the election of department commander. Each candidate is working hard to get his forces together.

The encampment next year will be held at Terre Haute.

Democratic Primary.
This is the day designated by D. H. Lubber, the holdover chairman, for the democrats of the county to vote to continue John Burrell, John Durment et al in office if they so desire. The indications are that the vote will be a little short. It is said that no votes are being cast in Washington and Redding townships. In Jackson township the polls are open but very few are voting. It is evident the primary will be a disappointment to those who called it.

Business Men's Excursion.
H. H. Roseman, general passenger and freight agent of the Southern Indiana, was in the city today in response to some of our business men who have in mind a business men's excursion to Indian Springs. Mr. Roseman talks very favorably of the plan and will do his part to make it successful.

"Remember the Maine."
St. Louis, May 17.—Captain Duval of the United States Commissary Department has a contract with local bakeries for 610,000 pounds of army crackers. This is equivalent to thirty thousand barrels of flour. On each cracker will be printed the words "Remember the Maine."

Go and Get Some Ice Cream.

CLOSING OUT

COLUMBUS ENCAMPMENT.

Will Close Today After a Very Successful Meeting.

Special Correspondence to the REPUBLICAN.
COLUMBUS, Ind., May 19.—Yesterday was the big day of the Columbus encampment. All the forenoon and evening trains brought great crowds of people.

In the forenoon at 9 o'clock the G. A. R., the S. of V. and their auxiliary organizations met at the city hall where they were formally welcomed by Hon. W. J. Beck, mayor of Columbus. Mayor Beck's address did himself and the city great credit. After extending a hearty welcome in behalf of the citizens of Columbus, he said:

"The traditions of the veteran will always be held in honor. The story of his deeds in the greatest war of modern times will never cease to be a cherished part of our literature. More and more will years reveal the sublimity of these deeds. And allow me to say that coming generations will anxiously trace their decent back to the years 1861 to 1865 and happy will be he who can plant himself upon the proposition that at some point in his family history there stands a man in blue fighting for his country. Further than that he will not trace nor need he care, for time will have brought such a store of venerableness and effect of the memory of THAT MAN IN BLUE that he who can trace to him will stand in the brightest light ancestry can shed. There is only one thing grander than to be a son of a veteran and that is to be the veteran himself.

It was a terrible struggle in which that man in blue took part. Its causes have passed into the oblivion of mean and barbaric things and the prejudice by it inspired has given way to noble recollections. The time is here when the bitterness engendered by those years of strife is remembered no more, but cemented by a brotherhood of patriotism and love for a common flag, the north and the south strike hands in one grand hurrah for the future with forgetfulness of the past. And so it is that when the Maine goes down a million sons of the nation arise. And so it is that when the lives of our gallant seamen are stifled by Spanish treachery the flag shoots aloft, and hosts from the ranks of the old time blue and the old time gray, hand in hand with their sons and their sons' sons, rush to its defense with patriotism in their hearts and upon their lips the soul-stirring cry, "Remember the Maine." And so it is that together they turn toward poor, struggling Cuba and with tearful, up-turned faces they pray the God of nations that speedy release may come to her. And so it is that together they pledge themselves that loving liberty for themselves as they do they will show by their good works that they love it for others none the less.

Ah, and let us hope, my countrymen, that on that day now soon here, when by beautiful custom we strew the graves of our hero dead with flowers—let us hope that on that day on Cuban soil, with Cuba free, the old time blue find the old time gray may, unmolested by the enemies of liberty, stand over the last resting place of the heroes of that noble battleship and there together twine chaplets, there mingle their tears, there pledge themselves anew to their common flag."

Remarks were made by Commander Dodge of Elkhart, and W. D. Robinson, of Laketon. During the forenoon and afternoon business services of the G. A. R., W. R. C., S. of V. and auxiliary organizations were held. The W. R. C. elected the following officers: Department president, Mrs. Mary J. Hadley, Danville; senior-vice, Mrs. Irene Hawley, Columbus; junior-vice, Miss Nettie Winks, Knightstown; treasurer, Mrs. Alice Pike, Danville. The other organizations elect officers today.

The three campfires last night were all well attended. The military and industrial parades yesterday afternoon were interesting features of the encampment. There was a long line of veterans followed by an industrial parade, in which nearly every industry and business interest in Columbus had representation.

of the day, in fact of the encampment, was the eleven hundred school children on a well arranged platform on South Washington street who sang "Red, White and Blue," "Star Spangled Banner," and kindred songs as the column of veterans passed along. The children were in charge of Prof. Arthur Mason, musical director, and Supt. J. A. Camagey, of the public schools.

The encampment closes today and the chief interest this forenoon is in the election of department commander. Each candidate is working hard to get his forces together.

The encampment next year will be held at Terre Haute.

Democratic Primary.
This is the day designated by D. H. Lubber, the holdover chairman, for the democrats of the county to vote to continue John Burrell, John Durment et al in office if they so desire. The indications are that the vote will be a little short. It is said that no votes are being cast in Washington and Redding townships. In Jackson township the polls are open but very few are voting. It is evident the primary will be a disappointment to those who called it.

Business Men's Excursion.
H. H. Roseman, general passenger and freight agent of the Southern Indiana, was in the city today in response to some of our business men who have in mind a business men's excursion to Indian Springs. Mr. Roseman talks very favorably of the plan and will do his part to make it successful.

SAN JUAN IS TERRORIZED.

Damage Done by Sampson's Bombardment.

St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, May 19.—Over 30 Porto Rican refugees, mostly women, with very little money, have arrived here on board the French steamer Rodriguez.

It is reported that the governor general of Porto Rico has issued a proclamation saying eight soldiers were killed and 34 were wounded as a result of the bombardment of the forts at San Juan by a portion of Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet on May 19. He adds that two guns were dismounted at Moro Castle, which otherwise was little damaged. He also says the other forts were not much hurt. In the town one shot, it is alleged, penetrated the palace and the corner of a powder house was carried away. No school children were killed.

The Spanish transport Alfonso XI and the Spanish freight steamer Manilla were damaged by the American fire. The Spaniards, as usual claim they won a victory, basing this assertion upon the fact that the American warships departed under fire. But, the refugees say, the city of San Juan is still terrorized, its inhabitants being in hourly fear of the reappearance of the American fleet and a repetition of the bombardment. Therefore people are camping in the country out of range of the American guns.

The Spaniards say that Freeman Halstead, the newspaper correspondent, who was sentenced to nine years imprisonment for photographing the fortifications at San Juan, was wounded by a shot which struck the town jail, but the refugees say he was probably shot by the Spaniards. Many funerals have occurred recently at San Juan.

TAKING STEAMERS.

Admiral Dewey Has Made More Captures at Manila.

London, May 19.—The correspondent at Manila of The Daily Telegraph telegraphs as follows: "Despite the worries of the blockade the spirits of the Spanish officials are well maintained. The vessels of Admiral Dewey's squadron keep their positions and content themselves with preventing all supplies from reaching the beleaguered city. In addition to the Callao, the Americans have taken some steamers which were making for the port and several coasting vessels.

Nothing has yet succeeded in running the blockade. Admiral Dewey is credited with a desire to capture Spanish steamers, as his launches have been scouting around the coast. The Leyte is at present anchored in the river Pampanga."

SPANISH TERROR.

She Is Coaling at Fort De France, Martinique.

St. Pierre, Martinique, May 19.—The Spanish torpedobomb destroyer Tercero, is coaling at Fort de France and may leave at any moment to join the Spanish fleet at Cuba or Porto Rico. The ambulance ship Alicante also remains. Three unknown vessels passed Martinique yesterday bound for northwest, evidently carrying coal and probably for the fleet. They would not signal.

Fighting in Close Quarters.

Marines In Hand-to-Hand Combat.

Chased a Vessel Ashore.

Key West, May 19.—The torpedobomb Dupont chased a 3-ton Spanish fishing smack ashore between Cardenas and Matanzas. When the smack struck the ground, her crew jumped overboard, swam ashore and made for the woods.

Cannot Put to Sea For a Week.

London, May 19.—The Paris correspondent of The Daily Mail says: "The Spanish ships are fitted up with Krupp guns, but they still lack many essentials and cannot in any circumstances put to sea within a week."

Million Francs For Spain.

Buenos Ayres, May 19.—It is announced here that the Spaniards of Argentine have telegraphed another 1,000,000 francs to Madrid as a war subscription, and that the collection of money for the same purpose will be continued.

Havana Food Supply.

Madrid, May 19.—An official dispatch from Havana says: "The food supply is assured for a long time. Vessels are arriving here from all parts, even from the United States, with provisions."

Report of Adjutant General Shows a Loss in Membership.

Columbus, Ind., May 19.—The first session of the G. A. R. state encampment was held yesterday. Commander J. S. R. read, Sons of Veterans, the orphans' home, the soldiers' home, school histories and flags on school houses. ## Suffered 20 Years.

OREGON SAFE

Secretary Long Made the Announcement of the Good News.

HER LONG VOYAGE

Traveled Over 13,000 Miles Since Leaving San Francisco.

TO DEWEY'S RELIEF

Charleston Sails From San Francisco For Manila With Supplies.

THE SENATORS IMPATIENT

Over Apparent Slowness In Military Movements.

Senator Lodge Expresses His Surprise and Disappointment at a Secret Session of the Senate—Volunteer Army at Chickamauga Now Aggregates Eighteen Thousand Men—General Otis Takes Charge of Manila Expedition—Preparation at San Francisco.

Washington, May 19.—Secretary Long gave out the welcome information late yesterday that the battleship Oregon, the second largest craft in the American navy, had successfully completed her long trip from San Francisco, making the entire circuit of South America, and was now safe. Whether or not she has joined Admiral Sampson's fleet the secretary would not say. The rigid secrecy of the navy department was relaxed only enough to make known the best news the navy department had received since the battle of Manila, as it meant not only that the Oregon was out of harm's way from a concerted attack on this one ship by the whole Spanish squadron now in southern waters, but also that her great fighting strength would be added to Admiral Sampson's force in the near future, if, indeed, it had not already augmented the admiral's strength.

The Oregon left San Francisco about six weeks ago, before the war had opened, and at that time it was not admitted that she was to join the ships in Atlantic waters. She stopped at Callao for dispatches and then went around the Horn and then up the east coast of South America. In all the trip covered more than 13,000 miles. The last stretch, from Bahia to the Windward Islands, has been followed with anxiety by naval officials, for, by strange coincidence the formidable Spanish squadron of armored cruisers and torpedo-boats approached the Windward Islands at the very time when the Oregon was due there. It had been suspected that the Spanish admiral would try to intercept the battleship with his superior force and before leaving Bahia Captain Clark was warned to keep a close lookout for the Spanish fleet.

Aside from this bit of information Secretary Long said there was no further news to be given out. The official navy bulletins are not proving of important news value, although they are practically all that comes from the navy department with its official approval.

Late in the day Secretary Long joined the war board which had been in session for some hours to participate in the discussion of their plans, which are believed to have been materially modified by the news received from the Oregon. The cruiser Charleston, which started yesterday on her long journey to meet Admiral Dewey at Manila, should arrive there in about 24 days, allowing a couple of days at Honolulu for coal. Admiral Dewey's cablegrams show that he is able to maintain the ground he has gained until reinforcements arrive in the usual course, so that the Charleston will get there in time to serve his purposes. The stock of ammunition which the Charleston carries is believed to be the great essential just now, the fierce engagement at Cavite having consumed a large part of the American admiral's shot and shell.

There was a good deal of talk at the war department yesterday of the possibility of the issue by the president of another call for volunteers, but careful inquiry warrants the statement that this is at least premature and that no further call is likely to issue until the aggregate number of soldiers already called for have responded and have been fully equipped for service. This last matter, the equipment of the new troops, is the main source of delay and promises to become even worse in the future.

CHICKAMAUGA.

Organization of Divisions and Brigades. Indiana and Ohio Troops.

Chickamauga, May 19.—A volunteer army of 17 infantry regiments, one cavalry and five batteries of light artillery, in all 18,100 officers and men, are in camp here.

The Sixth Ohio infantry reached here at 9 o'clock last night, remaining in their cars. The regiment is composed of 11 companies, 815 officers and men, commanded by Colonel William V. McKen.

General Brooke announced yesterday that in accordance with the orders from the president the volunteer troops would be organized at Chickamauga as follows:

Two corps of three divisions each; each division to be composed of three brigades and the brigades to be composed of three regiments each.

The first division of the first provisional corps has been completed and has been assigned to Major General James H. Wilson.

The organization of the second division began with the early arrivals of yesterday. Colonel A. K. Arnold has been named as the provisional commander of the division and the first brigade has been filled as follows:

Colonel Robert Ralston of the Third Pennsylvania, provisional brigadier; Third Pennsylvania, Lieutenant Colonel W. G. Price Jr.; Thirty-first Michigan, Colonel Cornelius Gardner; One Hundred and Sixtieth Indiana, Colonel G. W. Gander.

Second brigade—Brigadier to be named—Sixth Ohio, Colonel McKen; One Hundred and Fifty-eighth Indiana, Colonel Smith; First West Virginia, Colonel Spillman.

Third brigade—Brigadier to be named—Second Ohio, Colonel J. H. Kuert; First Pennsylvania, Lieutenant Colonel J. L. Good. The next company to arrive will fill up the division.

SENATORS IMPATIENT.

Washington, May 19.—When the senate went into secret session yesterday on the quartermaster's bill Mr. Hawley read a letter from General Flagler, chief of the bureau of ordinance requesting that authority be given for the purchase of ordinance without waiting to advertise, saying that such delay might at times be of very serious consequence.

The reading of the letter led to a brief discussion of the status of the military operations and some impatience was expressed regarding the apparent delay in getting the military expedition to the Philippines started.

Senator Lodge made a brief speech on this point. He expressed surprise and disappointment that 18 days should have been allowed to elapse before troops sufficient to enable us to follow the naval victory with an attack upon the Spanish land forces at Manila had even been put in readiness to start upon their mission.

GLADSTONE IS DEAD

The Grand Old Man Passes Peacefully Away at Hawarden.

GRIEF IN THE COMMONS

When It Was Announced That He Was Dying.

House Will Petition Her Majesty For a Funeral at the Public Charge and For the Erection of a Monument In Westminster Abbey—Prince of Wales' Telegram.

Hawarden, May 19.—The Right Hon. William Ewart Gladstone died this morning at 5 o'clock. The end was peaceful.

GLADSTONE IS DYING.

The Announcement Caused a Hush of Grief In the Commons.

London, May 19.—Every other topic in Great Britain yesterday dropped out of sight before the passing of Mr. Gladstone. Hawarden focused the attention, which from the highest to the man in the street was respectful, sincere and profoundly moved. In two places, perhaps, was the tension most keen and most heartfelt—the house of commons and Hawarden.

Just before the house rose yesterday a telegram from Herbert Gladstone reached Lord Stanley, announcing that his father was sinking. Already before his death the hush of grief seemed to fall over the scene of his triumphs; and from the present, men turned to the past, recalling sayings and doings.

A great lion lay dying, his old colleagues, his one-time enemies and followers watching his last long fight with his last and implacable foe as they watched in past days his fights against foes whom he could overcome. True to himself, he was yielding slowly, inch by inch. It was generally felt at St. Stephens that his dying was but the sequel to that great scene witnessed four years ago when, his last speech spoken, he quitted the house without one word of spoken adieu. Anticipating the inevitable, the members of the government discussed the appropriate procedure to be observed and resolved that no effort on their part should be wanting to mark a suitable sense of their loss.

Disregarding recent precedence it was decided that the programme in parliament should be the same as that adopted in the cases of the Earl of Chatham and of the younger Pitt, namely an address to Her Majesty praying for a funeral at the public charge and a monument erected in Westminster Abbey.

Throughout the whole kingdom every public gathering added its words of deep grief to the volume of national mourning clearly versed in the telegram from the prince of Wales to Mr. Henry Gladstone:

"My thoughts are with you, your mother and your family at this trying time you are experiencing. God grant that your father does not suffer."

Papers In Mourning.

London, May 19.—All the papers are out with special editions, in heavily leaded borders, announcing the death of Mr. Gladstone. The Daily Chronicle heads its editorial with a quotation from Wordsworth:

"This is the happy warrior; this is he That every man in arms should wish to be."

GLADSTONE'S GREAT CAREER.

HOW THE GREAT STATESMAN CLIMBED TO THE SUMMIT OF FAME.

Few men are more fortunate in their names than was Gladstone. Whatever its extraction, the name conveys the idea of heartiness as well as strength.

Like the ruling intellects throughout the British islands at the present day, and we may say for a full century past, he was Scotch, though he was born in Liverpool near the commencement of Madison's administration, the last day but one in December, 1809. He was born in Rodney street, which took its name from the French during the American Revolution.

Liverpool had but little importance prior to her independence. Most of the vessels which sailed for America in colonial times came from Bristol, London or Hull. The slave trade, subsequently the cotton trade and finally the general American trade built up Liverpool.

WILLIAM E. GLADSTONE.

There John Gladstone, born just before the stamp act, and the son of a grain merchant at Leith, near Edinburgh, established himself and made voyages to America, and, like the junior Scotch merchants of that day, studied the American trade and acted upon his personal observation as to what he should ship to England. The West Indies and Russia were soon added to the nations with which he dealt.

About 1812 there was a notable politician in Liverpool of the name of George Canning, a Tory, who filled an active ministerial part in the second war against the United States. The merchant Gladstone changed his politics from admiration of Canning about the time his son William Ewart Gladstone was 3 years old. Though hostile to Madison, Canning befriended the South American republics and Greece and antagonized the Duke of Wellington's prejudice against Russia as the future rival of England in eastern affairs. So Mr. Gladstone inherited from his father and Canning a sentimentality concerning oppressed peoples.

He was enough of a Liverpool man, however, to share during the first part of our civil war the manifest prejudice of Liverpool against the American shipping trade and hastened to say that "Jefferson Davis had made a nation."

Their political affiliations caused John Gladstone to be made a baronet by Sir Robert Peel in his eighty-second year. He was something of an author of books and pamphlets on trade subjects. The word Gladstone is believed to mean humble rock.

Having been somewhat trained by a clergyman, who reported him dull at figures, the future prime minister was sent to Eton school in 1821 and again took a private tutor and then went to Oxford university. About 500 boys were at Eton with Gladstone, and not much attention was paid to their studies beyond Greek and Latin. Gladstone wrote Latin verses with facility and contributed to the Eton magazine, and he established a serial while in the school, assisted by Hallam, who became the subject of Tennyson's "In Memoriam." Among his early pieces often quoted is this:

Still 'mid the cotton and the flax Warm let the shuttle and the steam Bright let the flame of freedom gleam.

In one of his papers on eloquence he said that the orator could have anything, be a minister, state secretary or premier of the country. Much of Gladstone's writing in this school magazine bears a resemblance to his speeches in old age.

He had the best teachers, one of them a subsequent bishop of Calcutta, but his college life was more noted for his literary and political discussions than for accurate study. He embraced the views of the high church Tories, who were around him in college, and hated political reform.

"I did not learn when at Oxford," he says, "to set a due value on the imperishable and inestimable principles of human liberty. The temper in those academic circles was to regard liberty with jealousy."

All around him at college were men destined by their social opportunities to be eminent, such as the Duke of Newcastle, the archbishop of Canterbury, Cardinal Manning, Lyall, the geologist, and Lowe, the statesman. Gladstone opposed the removal of Jewish and Catholic disabilities.

After graduating with honor he went to Italy in 1831 and was there when the reform agitation was at its height in England. By threatening the house of lords with a preposterous enlargement of their number King William IV and Lord Grey passed this notable bill to reconstitute parliament in the summer of 1832. Gladstone was therefore 23 years of age when this momentous enlargement of the privileges of common Englishmen became the law of the realm much against his wish.

The Liberals came into power. By the aid of his college friend, the subsequent Duke of Newcastle, Gladstone easily entered parliament, being elected for Newark, which was swallowed in the duke's estates. The plain constituency taunted young Gladstone with being a parasite of the duke, a young cub of less than 23 years of age, and the son of a man on whose sugar plantations slaves were driven to toil.

At the time Gladstone was opposed to negro emancipation. He denounced what he called "the uninquiring and indiscriminating desire for change." As to slavery he said, "I rest upon the fact that Scripture is the paramount authority on such a point." He proposed the Christian instruction of slaves instead of freedom. To these views the crowds would not listen, but he was elected by a majority of about one-eighth.

His first speech was against West India and Guiana emancipation. He was compelled to speak because the management of slaves on his father's estate was directly attacked as inhuman. Compelled to meet the same charges again, he asked, "Are not Englishmen to retain a right to their own honestly and legally acquired property?"

He could not stay the emancipation bill, which granted compensation to owners and came into effect in 1840. Though he often spoke, most of his early addresses were against liberal legislation in the colonies, in the suffrage and in the church.

Like Disraeli, his subsequent brilliant competitor, he was a precocious Tory and the pet of the old leaders of that party.

Lord Melbourne was almost violently dismissed by King William IV, and Sir Robert Peel, at the time a Tory, was ordered to form a ministry, whereupon he offered young Gladstone the place of junior lord of the treasury. Newark rejected him, and at 26 he became under secretary of the colonies. The house of commons soon upset this ministry, and when Gladstone had made a speech defending the Irish church establishment he and his colleagues were defeated in 1835.

Gladstone concluded to hold his tongue and watch events after he went out of the ministry, and old King William, the last son of George III, died in 1837, letting young Victoria succeed to the throne. Gladstone now stood for two places, Newark and Manchester, and the latter defeated him, but the former returned him.

He again opposed the Melbourne ministry, especially upon hastening emancipation, saying, "We accepted a price in compensation for the loss," and added, "Oh, sir, with what depth of desire have I longed for this day, sore and wearied and irritated with grossly exaggerated misrepresentations and utter calumnies, and without the means of reply—how do I rejoice to meet them in free discussion!" The earnestness of this speech seems to have brought the young man into notice.

He had at the time a mild and pleasant countenance, an intellectual expression, dark, prominent eyebrows, clear flashing eyes, a full head of jet black hair and small and regular features. He put his hands behind his back when rising to speak and shifted them to the front and sometimes put them in his breast.

It was noticed that his family when in the cabinet. About 1840 he opposed the principle of state education on an undemocratic basis.

A general election now brought Sir Robert Peel to the head of affairs, and he made Gladstone master of the mint and vice president of the board of trade.

About this time he married Catherine Glyne, daughter of Sir Stephen Glyne of Hawarden castle, in Flintshire. By her he had eight children, who went into politics, the ministry or commerce.

A thread of the schoolmaster runs through this family. One of Gladstone's sisters entered the Roman Catholic church, and another married Lord Littleton.

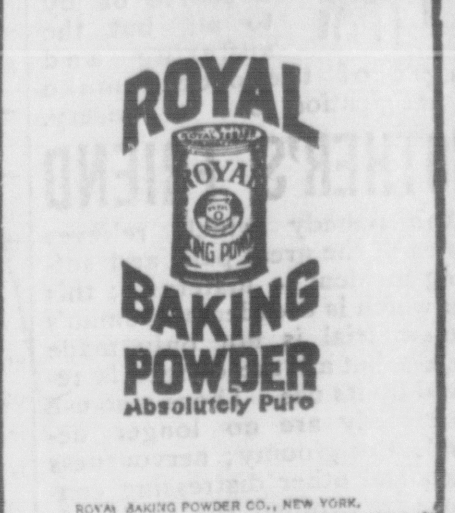

The active mind of Gladstone now launched a book on the state in its relations with the church. Macaulay wrote it down as betraying very much study and mental toil. "He is the rising hope of those stern and unbending Tories," said Macaulay, "who follow reluctantly and mutinously a leader whose temper and opinion they abhor." Others called attention to the dry light Gladstone shed on his subject and the excess of his passions and prejudices. "He has one gift," said The Edinburgh Review, "most dangerous to a speculator, a vast command of a kind of language grave and majestic, but of vague and uncertain import."

Pausing a moment to contemplate Gladstone abreast of the great Whig victory of Harrison in America in 1840, we see a shifty Scotchman's son reared amid the associations of the African and American slave trades, as desirous as Sir Walter Scott to improve his aristocratic surroundings. The plain brick house in Liverpool, with its door in the middle, a copy of thousands of such houses, is now exchanged for the battlements and towers of Hawarden castle, with its battlemented courtyard and park of ancient trees. His intimate friend is a nobleman, the son of a duke, and the privileged classes look with favor upon their rising champion, who has a fecundity of thought and luxuriousness of language they cannot imitate and must faintly admire.

It is all the more interesting from this feudal outset to note the changes which have come over Gladstone's views and character. The pictures of Cole are suggested to us, of the knight riding forth from his castle in the morning armed from head to foot and coming back at night to the same drawbridge rigid in death. So Gladstone must needs leave the high class surroundings into which he had made his way to tilt his lance at every appearance of modern reform, but in the evening of his days he returns dis-

RELIEF OF DEWEY.

Charleston Leaves San Francisco For the Philippines.

San Francisco, May 19.—The Charleston sailed last evening for Manila with supplies for Admiral Dewey.

Major General Otis has assumed charge of the organization, outfitting and the sailing of the troops bound for Manila. A few alterations in the City of Peking's arrangements which have been decided upon, will delay the departure of the vessel until Saturday next. When ready for sea, the Peking will carry four 4-pound Hotchkiss rapid fire guns, two being placed in her bow and two in her stern. She is being prepared for the reception of 1,400 enlisted men, 72 army officers, eight navy officers and 112 sailors. The latter, with their officers, are to man the Spanish ships captured by Admiral Dewey.

Work on the transports City of Sydney and Australia is proceeding in a very leisurely manner. The former vessel is being coaled and painted and a few carpenters are at work in her interior, but that is all. Unless a force of mechanics is put to work on her at once the vessel will not be ready to leave for a week or more. The Australia is less in need of repairs and alteration than the other vessel.

GOING TO PHILIPPINES.

The Pelayo and Consorts Will Sail In a Few Days.

Gibraltar, May 19.—The first-class battleship, Pelayo, the armored cruiser, Emperor Carlos V, Alfonso XII, Victoria and Giraldia, the auxiliary cruisers Rapido, Alfonso XII, Buenos Ayres and Antonio Lopez and three torpedo-boats, now at Cadiz, are ready for sea. They are expected to sail for the Philippines before the end of this month with 11,000 troops.

Major General Lee.

Washington, May 19.—Major General Fitzhugh Lee of the volunteer army, who has been assigned to the command of the Seventh corps at Tampa, Fla., was at the war department yesterday. He will leave for his post of duty today or tomorrow.

Three years ago my condition was alarming; the least noise would startle and unnerve me. I was unable to sleep, had a number of sinking spells and rapidly grew worse. I began using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Nerve and Liver Pills. At first the medicine seemed to have no effect, but after taking a few bottles I began to notice a change; I rested better at night, my appetite began to improve and I rapidly grew better. DEATH OF GLADSTONE.

The death of William Ewart Gladstone removes the greatest statesman of Europe of modern years. His service to his country covers a period that is surprisingly long when it is considered. He was born in the last days of 1809 when Napoleon was seeking to be master of Europe. His public life began when Andrew Jackson was president of the United States. As far away as that seems, Gladstone has been prominently engaged in English public affairs from that time on.

Gladstone was four times prime minister of England. He was first elected in 1868 when the Disraeli ministry was defeated and held office until 1874. Again from 1880 until 1885. After the elections of that year Mr. Gladstone again returned to office for a short time. During the present decade he again became prime minister and passed a home bill through the commons, but it failed in the house of lords.

Gladstone's career has been one of the greatest of the century. As an orator he has been remarkably successful and convincing. As a leader he had few men who were his equals and none who excelled him. He did much writing and study in the classics in the intervals of his official duties and his work always attracted marked attention. He has been one of the great figures of the century just drawing to a close, a century that has witnessed the greatest advancement in civilization and freedom in the history of time.

The value of waterways as a mode of transportation is little understood. The government officials who have been tabulating the statistics of commerce on the Great Lakes discover that 1 cent will haul a ton of goods twelve miles. Ore is brought from Duluth to Buffalo for 55 cents a ton; coal is carried 1,000 miles for 20 cents a ton.

The spectacle of a mighty nation calmly laying aside ordinary business and spending hundreds of millions of dollars and risking thousands of lives to assist a struggling people to achieve the priceless boon of liberty, is an inspiring sight not to be overtopped in the twentieth century. The old nations of the world view the spectacle with amazement and will have a higher opinion of the aims, purposes and destiny of the western power.—Greensburg Review.

It absorbs moisture, and prevents chafing, hot, smarting, blistered sweating feet. All the regular army troops and navy men use it. Volunteers in hot climates can't exist in comfort without it. Allen's Foot-Ease is sold by all druggists and shoe stores, 25c. Sample sent free. Address Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

Many old soldiers now feel the effects of the hard service they endured during the war. Mr. Geo. S. Anderson, of Rossville, York county, Penn., who saw the hardest kind of service at the front, is now frequently troubled with rheumatism. "I had a severe attack lately," he says "and procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It did so much good that I would like to know what you would charge me for one dozen bottles." Mr. Anderson wanted it both for his own use and to supply it to his friends and neighbors, as every family should have a bottle of it in their home, not only for rheumatism, but lame back, sprains, swellings, cuts, bruises and burns, for which it is unequalled for sale by C. W. Milhouse.

A bath with COSMO BUTTERMILK SOAP, exquisitely scented, is soothing and beneficial. Sold by C. W. Milhouse. Every woman needs Dr. Miles' Pain Balm.

Whooping Cough.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

The Burlington's New Omaha. St. Joseph and St. Louis Trains.

To take care of the heavy travel to the Omaha Exposition, in connection with excursion rates, as well as the stopover privileges at Omaha, on all through tickets, the Burlington Route will establish, commencing May 28th, very desirable fast train service to Omaha from St. Louis and St. Joseph.

This new train service is the extension of the St. Louis-St. Joseph wide vestibuled Pinta lighted trains Nos. 15 and 16. Trains leave St. Louis daily at 8:45 p. m., leave St. Joseph 8:15 a. m., arrive at Omaha at noon. The Burlington will furnish the same standard of wide vestibuled main line service to and through Omaha for the west, as it provides from St. Louis to and through Kansas City or St. Joseph. This move keeps the Burlington Route in the field via Omaha for its full share of travel to the Omaha Exposition, as well as to the great west beyond. The Burlington's great train service from Omaha to the west has long been known. Special "Exposition Flyer" folders are now on the press.

CLOSING OUT

COLUMBUS ENCAMPMENT.

Will Close Today After a Very Successful Meeting.

Special Correspondence to the REPUBLICAN.

COLUMBUS, Ind., May 19.—Yesterday was the big day of the Columbus encampment. All the forenoon and evening trains brought great crowds of people.

In the forenoon at 9 o'clock the G. A. R., the S. of V. and their auxiliary organizations met at the city hall where they were formally welcomed by Hon. W. J. Beck, mayor of Columbus. Mayor Beck's address did himself and the city great credit. After extending a hearty welcome in behalf of the citizens of Columbus, he said:

"The traditions of the veteran will always be held in honor. The story of his deeds in the greatest war of modern times will never cease to be a cherished part of our literature. More and more will years reveal the sublimity of these deeds. And allow me to say that coming generations will anxiously trace their descent back to the years 1861 to 1865 and happy will be he who can plant himself upon the proposition that at some point in his family history there stands a man in blue fighting for his country. Further than that he will not trace nor need he care; for time will have brought such a store of venerableness and effect of the memory of

that he who can trace to him will stand in the brightest light ancestry can shed. There is only one thing grander than to be a son of a veteran and that is to be the veteran himself.

It was a terrible struggle in which that man in blue took part. Its causes has passed into the oblivion of mean and barbaric things and the prejudice by it inspired has given way to noble recollections. The time is here when the bitterness engendered by those years of strife is remembered no more, but cemented by a brotherhood of patriotism and love for a common flag, the north and the south strike hands in one grand burrah for the future with forgetfulness of the past. And so it is that when the Maine goes down a million sons of the nation arise. And so it is that when the lives of our gallant seamen are stifled by Spanish treachery the flag shoots aloft, and hosts from the ranks of the old time blue and the old time gray, hand in hand with their sons and their sons' sons, rush to its defense with patriotism in their hearts and upon their lips the soul-stirring cry, "Remember the Maine." And so it is that together they turn toward poor, struggling Cuba and with tearful, up-turned faces they pray the God of nations that speedy release may come to her. And so it is that together they pledge themselves that loving liberty for themselves as they do they will show by their good works that they love it for others none the less.

Ah, and yet I hope, my countrymen, that on that day now soon here, when by beautiful custom we strew the graves of our hero dead with flowers—let us hope that on that day on Cuban soil, with Cuba free, the old time blue and the old time gray may, unmolested by the enemies of liberty, stand over the last resting place of the heroes of that noble battleship and there together twine chaplets; there mingle their tears; there pledge themselves anew to their common flag."

Remarks were made by Commander Dodge of Elkhart, and W. D. Robinson of Laketon.

During the forenoon and afternoon business services of the G. A. R., W. R. C., S. of V. and auxiliary organizations were held. The W. R. C. elected the following officers: Department president, Mrs. Mary J. Hadley, Danville; senior-vice, Mrs. Irene Hawley, Columbus; junior-vice, Miss Nettie Winks, Knightstown; treasurer, Mrs. Alice Pike, Danville. The other organizations elect officers today.

The three campfires last night were all well attended.

The military and industrial parades yesterday afternoon were interesting features of the encampment. There was a long line of veterans followed by an industrial parade, in which nearly every industry and business interest in Columbus had representation.

of the day, in fact of the encampment, was the eleven hundred school children on a well arranged platform on South Washington street who sang "Red, White and Blue," "Star Spangled Banner," and kindred songs as the column of veterans passed along. The children were in charge of Prof. Arthur Mason, musical director, and Supt. J. A. Camaguey, of the public schools.

The encampment closes today and the chief interest this forenoon is in the election of department commander. Each candidate is working hard to get his forces together.

The encampment next year will be held at Terre Haute.

Democratic Primary.

This is the day designated by D. H. Lubber, the holdover chairman, for the democrats of the county to vote to continue John Burrell, John Durment et al in office if they so desire. The indications are that the vote will be a little short. It is said that no votes are being cast in Washington and Redding townships. In Jackson township the polls are open but very few are voting. It is evident the primary will be a disappointment to those who called it.

Business Men's Excursion.

H. H. Roseman, general passenger and freight agent of the Southern Indiana, was in the city today in response to some of our business men who have in mind a business men's excursion to Indian Springs. Mr. Roseman talks very favorably of the plan and will do his part to make it successful.

"Remember the Maine."

St. Louis, May 17.—Captain Duval of the United States Commissary Department has a contract with local bakeries for 610,000 pounds of army crackers. This is equivalent to thirty thousand barrels of flour. On each cracker will be printed the words "Remember the Maine."

Go and Get Some Ice Cream.

Frank Gates opens his ice cream parlors today and is ready to serve his customers with Ballards cream, the best in the city. He also takes orders for delivery to any part of the city. His cream is always the best.

Barn Burned.

Yesterday evening just before 6 o'clock Ed Brown's barn on the alley between Second and Third streets, just east of Indianapolis avenue burned with its contents. The origin of the fire is a mystery. Loss about $150.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

WALTER HOWARD, Church Clerk.

The commissioners failed to let the contract for the rebuilding of the Indian Creek bridge, as all bids were considered excessive.

Samuel Braeshear, of Brownville, Ky., came here and took the remains of B. B. Knight to his late home accompanied by Superintendent Thompson of the Southern Indiana.

Albion Smith, formerly of the Franklin Republican, and more recently with the C. P. Tush paper company of Indianapolis, has given up traveling for that firm. The ruling spirit is strong yet and he would like to again get into newspaper work. He is a most genial gentleman and we hope he may have his ambition gratified.—Franklin Star.

REORGANIZING FLEETS.

PREPARING TO CHASE THE SPANISH FLEETS.

Accident to The Cruiser Charleston.—Probable Attempt to Cut A Cable.—Holland Boat to be Used.

Special Dispatch to the REPUBLICAN.

WASHINGTON, May 19, (2:45 p. m.)—It is right well established that Sampson, Schley and Watson are reorganizing their fleets. The belief is that Sampson and Schley are to take the heavy ships and start after the Spaniards.

Cruiser Charleston which had started to the Philippines with supplies for Admiral Dewey met with a slight accident and has returned to Mare Island.

Probably Trying to Cut Cable.

KEY WEST, May 19.—There is no American confirmation of a battle off Santiago de Cuba. It is thought our vessels were trying to cut the cable connecting Blanco with Spain.

Holland Submarine Boat.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Holland submarine boat is to be brought into use. It is to be used as a mine destroyer.

Our Battle Ships.

The United States has nine first-class battleships, the Massachusetts, Indiana, Oregon, Iowa, Kearsage, Kentucky, Illinois, Alabama, and Wisconsin. The first three are each 10,483 tons displacement; the next five are 11,525 tons displacement, while the Iowa is 11,410 tons. The five last named are not fully completed, but work is being vigorously pushed on them and some of them will be ready for commission in a month or two.

Forty Years.

Was the age of Mrs. Jerry Anderson today and the occasion was an enjoyable affair. Among the valued tokens was a very fine phaeton, purchased by her good husband. It is provided with 1,000 mile axles and is perhaps the finest article of the kind ever seen in Seymour. It was purchased of C. B. Cole & Co.

New National Guard.

Nothing whatever has been done as yet with reference to organizing a home or national guard for the state to take the place of the troops that have joined the regular volunteer service. Governor Mount says no one has been authorized to raise any troops for this purpose and those who claim to be acting with authority are giving out a false impression. The length of the war, he says, will determine whether another home guard is required. The old guard will be given the preference at the close of the war.
